

Sharepoint 2010 Questions

I have a laptop from Motion Computing M1300, Model T002. Recently my laptop crashed and I had to reboot it. However after installing windows XP back on it, for some reason I have no sound. Unfortunately I don't know what kind of sound card it has or what to do to make it work. Please help me, I need this Table top for my school presentations.

Answer :: Whenever you reinstall your operating systems, most of your drivers that was install on your PC will be lost. you can always get it back from your laptop manufacturer's website or you can get it back from your CDs package that came with your laptop when you bought it. Just look for the one that contain your drivers.

I hope this help.

Join my forum at : akolagtech.com/forum/ to post your question .... Read More